INTRODUCTION

In this curriculum handbook you will find important information about your studies at Dutch National Opera Academy. After general information about the programme, you will find the programme objectives, an overview of the curriculum and the descriptions of the nine courses. These course descriptions inform you about the learning goals (objectives) of every course and the criteria on which the courses will be assessed. This handbook ends with information about the grading scales and the DNOA-addendum to the Education and Examination Regulations (EER) of both institutes.

GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT DNOA

A partnership of the Conservatorium van Amsterdam and the Royal Conservatoire The Hague, the Dutch National Opera Academy is a two-year's master's programme offering a wide-ranging curriculum encompassing all aspects in the training of an aspiring opera artist. In addition to a focus on refining technical skills, students are supported in developing a very clear sense of vocal and artistic identity, and how these attributes can best be united to meet market demands and expectations. The programme is tailored so as to enable young artists to enhance chances of success in a competitive field as they transition from full-time education to the workplace. DNOA graduates can be found in many of the world's leading opera houses. The programme mounts several full-scale productions each season and enjoys close ties with the wider world of opera. The programme issues a Master of Music degree.

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

To establish a good ensemble spirit while meeting your individual needs, the programme maintains a careful balance between one-to-one and group lessons. Education takes place on a daily basis, including occasional weekends, with individual lessons generally taking place in the mornings and group classes/rehearsals in the afternoon/evening.

The academic year is divided in two semesters (September–January and February–August) during which periods of group lessons alternate with rehearsals and performances. Voice lessons and individual coaching sessions continue throughout thirty-four weeks of the academic year.

DNOA students have the opportunity to work with a wide range of well-established and respected specialists from the international opera scene. These include vocal and language coaches, directors, conductors and agents as well as people from the field of cultural management and performance psychology who work with the DNOA students in the context of masterclasses, seminars and workshops.

This exposure to a wide range of experience and perspectives also serves as a practical means by which to establish and develop professional networks.

THE CURRICULUM

The curriculum is based on four areas of development:

- vocal/musical skills
- performance skills
- performing opera (main subject)
- reflective and career skills

The total study load of the programme is 120 ECTS.

MONITORING AND ASSESSMENT

The main subject of DNOA's programme is the integrated domain Performing Opera. By rehearsing and performing a number of fully staged productions a year, you will learn to integrate singing, acting and physicality. The constructive dialogue between the respective teachers takes an important place in the monitoring and assessment of your progression. Next to regular informal evaluation by the artistic leader and other teachers, formal assessment happens at the end of every semester.

This takes place in two forms:

- the assessment of your performance during the opera production by a commission of examiners, including DNOA faculty and external experts. This assessment will lead to a mark, 1–10 (including 0.5).
- the evaluation of your progression during the semester regarding the individual courses by the respective teachers. This takes place during the semester evaluation.

After the semester evaluation, an individual feedback session takes place between you, the Artistic Leader and the Head of Music. In this session the observations during the semester evaluation will be discussed and you will receive the mark for your performance in the opera production. For more details about assessment at course level, see the individual course descriptions.

STUDENT PANELS

In the DNOA, student panels take place twice a year. Students can participate in these panels and get the chance to discuss issues they encounter that are relevant for the entire group. In preparation for the student panel, an agenda is sent to the students, for which they can make suggestions. Some agenda points are fixed. For example, social safety is currently on the agenda of every meeting.

Chaired by the Artistic Leader, the panels are overseen by the Quality Culture department. Minutes taken are anonymised and are shared with the students who were present during the panel before they are made public.

The discussions during the student panels are an important source of information for the continuous improvement of the education at the DNOA.

Apart from student panels, students can give feedback on their study programme in various other ways, for example the National Student Survey (NSE).

PROGRAMME OBJECTIVES

The intended learning outcomes describe the minimum requirements that you need to meet in order to obtain a Master of Music degree with specialization Opera. The intended learning outcomes are based on the National Framework Music (2017) of the Netwerk Muziek and are divided in 6 areas of competencies:

- technical skills

ACTING SKILLS

| Course content: | The theatrical training of an opera singer is a combination of various acting techniques |
|---|---|
| | derived from the methods employed in today's theatrical practice. Utilising those techniques, you will learn to combine your own stage personality with the psychology of the character, to work in direct relation to the audience and to use the actual situation during the performance, manipulating it in the here and now. The primary elements in the course are: text scenes without singing; both monologue and dialogue: going step by step from analysis to mise-en-scène on stage elementary acting scenes using music but without text: without words but set on music you will physically act out a directed parcours as if inventing it on the spot physical improvisation: partly based on the method of Lecoq, you will work with several improvisation formats wherein body language and sensitivity to space are crucial sung scenes: combining singing in a fixed musical timing with being and reacting in the here and now as a character. |
| Objectives: | At the end of this course, you: have developed your acting skills through techniques such as improvisation, use of speed and dynamics, concentration of attention, body language and control, change of emotions and atmosphere and manipulation of here and now; have inhabited various characters from the operatic and theatrical literature in a meaningful way; are able to communicate truthfully with your audience and your colleagues on stage; are able to create the unique moment anew and bring something uniquely personal into every performance; are able to process requirements of musical and stage directors into a personal blend. |
| Type of course: | Compulsory |

|---|--|--|--|
| Course content: Objectives: | Research in DNOA's programme centres on completing a research project within a chosen area that has relevance to your practice as an opera singer. This can be, for example, a role study of the repertoire you perform during the programme but also an area with a social or cultural character. In the first year a range of different types of research will be discussed, offering you the opportunity to discover which form of research is most suitable for you, as well as the various methods of documenting and presenting your research. Forms of presentation may combine a theoretical approach connected or illustrated with live singing or mounting an exhibition that opens a link between academic findings and appearing in a performance. Issues such as: How do I formulate a viable research question that is close to my own artistic practice? and What sources can I use and where can I find them? will be addressed during the classes. You will determine your research area and question in the second semester of the first year. During the second year you will complete your research and present the findings in a public presentation during the fourth semester. At the end of this course, you will: have acquired an understanding of the role research can play in a performance career be able to demonstrate skills of formulating a project proposal and abstract | | |
| | document and present your research resultshave enhanced your artistic and professional understanding through the findings of your research | | |
| Type of course: | Compulsory | | |

| Duration: | Two years | | |
| Prior qualifications/ prerequisites: | - | | |
| Teachers: | Klaus Bertisch | | |
| Credits: | 4 ECTS per academic year | | |
| Literature: | Dependent on your research area and to be agreed in consultation with the course supervisor. | | |
| Work form: | You will have a personal research supervisor, from September in your first year up to your research presentation in the second year. In addition to three Master Research Circles (group context) per year, individual tutorials will also take place throughout the module (four sixty-minute sessions in Masters I, six sixty-minute sessions in Masters II). | | |
| Assessment: | Master I : In June of your first year, your supervisor will be asked to write a brief report on the progress of your research in which the following questions will be addressed: | | |
| | The communication and working relationship between the supervisor and the student so far. Has the student settled on a viable research topic? To what extent does the student show insight into what steps to take in order to answer their research question? How would you describe the student's motivation in moving forward at this point in the development of their research? | | |
| | Based on these questions, the progress you have made with your research in your first year will be graded with a 'pass' (if you are on the right track) or a 'fail' (if you are behind and not progressing). A 'fail' mainly functions as a warning and indicator; your progress can be re-assessed once | | |

| Assessment: | Master II: | |

ADDENDUM EDUCATION AND EXAMINATION REGULATIONS DNOA

To the Education and Examination Regulations (OER) 2022–2023 of the Conservatorium van Amsterdam and the Education and Examination Regulations (OER) 2022–2023 of the Royal Conservatoire for the joint Master of Music degree programme in Opera.

1. General

The boards of the Amsterdam University of the Arts and the University of the Arts The Hague, herewith represented by the directorates of the Conservatorium van Amsterdam and the Royal Conservatorie, attach this addendum to the Education and Examination Regulations (OER) of both conservatories. The addendum is endorsed by the faculty counsels of both conservatories and concurs with article 7.13 of the Dutch law for higher education and scientific research. It concerns the content and form of the educational programme and tests for the Master of Music in Opera degree at Dutch National Opera Academy (DNOA). This DNOA Master programme is jointly offered by the Music Faculty of the Amsterdam University of the Arts (hereinafter Conservatorium van Amsterdam) and the Royal Conservatorie of the University of the Arts The Hague.

The general provisions, including the enactment and the date of coming into operation of the Education and Examination Regulations of both conservatoires, apply fully to the DNOA. The purpose of this addendum is to synchronise the DNOA programme and its student assessments with the regulations of both conservatoires.

2. Programme

The DNOA is a two-year programme delivered over four semesters. The academic year is divided in two semesters (September–January and February–August) during which periods of group lessons alternate with rehearsals and performances. Voice lessons and individual coaching sessions continue throughout thirty-four weeks of the academic year. The programme is presented each year in the curriculum handbook, including course descriptions, learning outcomes, assessment and criteria, and number of credits.

3. Auditions

Audition requirements for enrolment at DNOA are specified on the DNOA website. A successful audition for DNOA means that a student has demonstrated sufficient qualities to be able to attain the final qualifications.

4. Sequence of Tests

A prerequisite for admission to a test is that all previous tests in said subject or academic year have been successfully passed, unless the course specifically allows exception to this prerequisite.

5. Tests and Resits

5.1 If a student fails the initial practical test, they will be offered the opportunity to take a reassessment in a similar or alternative form, as soon as viable, ideally within the same academic year. In the case of a failed or omitted opera production, the reassessment can be a staged recital (duration 35 – 40 minutes, repertoire and content to be decided in agreement with the Artistic Leader).

5.2 Students can enrol a maximum of two times for each course of the programme. If still not completed, the onus is with the student to ensure they prepare independently for a further assessment in the requisite course. The terms of this assessment are to be agreed in negotiation with the Artistic Leader and the DNOA board. successfully, students must consult DNOA's Artistic Leader on how to prepare for the exam on their own.

6. Types of Assesment

6.1 The DNOA has various types of tests incorporating continuous assessment, written submissions and practical performances.

6.2 Practical tests are generally open to the general public, unless determined otherwise in special cases by the Artistic Leader in consultation with the Board.

7. Test Results

7.1 At the end of each semester the integral development of a student is discussed at a plenary semester evaluation. During this meeting the student's overall development during the past semester is evaluated.

7.2 At the conclusion of the semester evaluation, DNOA's Artistic Leader meets with each student to relay the evaluation. This is followed by a written report concerning the student's study progress.

7.3 Twice a year DNOA's Artistic Leader is responsible for relaying student evaluations to the administration of the appropriate conservatoire..

8. Overview of roles

Together with the diploma, the student receives a supplement stating the titles of the productions and names of roles that the student has participated in as part of the course Opera Production 1–4, including the grade for the respective roles.

9. Cum laude

DNOA students are eligible for the designation 'cum laude' if they meet all of the following criteria:

- 1. was awarded an average grade of at least 9.0 in the assessed Opera Productions;
- 2. was awarded a grade of at least 8.0 in the assessment of the final Master Research;
- 3. passed all components of the programme at the first attempt;
- 4. has been enrolled for the Master's programme for a maximum of two academic years;
- 5. the Exam Committee has never established fraud by the student. Whether the student has met all the requirements is determined retrospectively by the student administration office. The designation 'cum laude' is recorded in an attachment to the certificate.
